

ANNUAL REUNION OF EX-CONFEDERATES

R. E. Lee Camp Celebrates Anniversary of Birth of Great Leader.

THRILLING TALKS.

Interesting, Instructive and Pathetic
Speeches Reproduce Reminiscences of By-Gone Days.

The closing scenes last night in connection with the anniversary of the birth of Robt. E. Lee were of the same brilliant, interesting and impressive nature that have characterized them for the past quarter of a century. Confederate Veterans' Hall, where the banquet of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans was held, was aglow at an early hour. The Woman's Auxiliary and United Daughters of the Confederacy having made everything ready.

The building was brilliantly illuminated and the decorations were profuse. The event was not confined to the Confederate Veterans' building, but the brilliancy seemed to radiate over the neighborhood. As is usual on the 19th of January, the residence of Mr. Wm. B. Smoot, adjoining on the west, was brilliantly illuminated, vari-colored lights from his conservatory shedding their beams on the scene.

The members of the camp and their guests were on hand at 7:30 o'clock and at 8 o'clock the company repaired from the upper to the lower floor where the tables had been spread. The taste, handwork and culinary skill of the ladies of the auxiliary never appeared to greater advantage, everything having been prepared in the most inviting manner.

Commander Wm. A. Smoot took his position at the head of the table when Rev. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Church, invoked a blessing.

The company then proceeded to discuss the menu, which was as follows:

- * Oysters
- * Raw Lynn Haven's Virginia Fried
- * Brown Bread Banquet Rolls
- * Celery
- * Mixed Pickles
- * Pickled Beets
- * Meats
- * Roast Turkey
- * Currant Jelly
- * Baked Ham
- * Chicken and Potato Salad
- * Cold Slaw
- * Wafers
- * Cream Cheese
- * Ice Cream, Confederate Colors
- * Assorted Cakes
- * Oranges
- * Malaga Grapes
- * Cigars, Coffee Punch.

The discussion of the feast continued until about 9 o'clock when Commander Smoot, who was toastmaster, rapped the company to order, and Adjutant Edgar Warfield read the farewell address of General Lee. Notwithstanding so many are familiar with the brief but impressive piece of literature, it was listened to with close attention and apparently appreciated as much as when first heard at Appomattox.

Hon. J. K. Vardaman, of Mississippi, was subsequently announced. He responded to the toast, "Robert Edward Lee." After a period of forty-two years it would seem that nothing new could be uttered concerning the great leader of the Army of Northern Virginia, but Senator Vardaman had many original things to say of Robert E. Lee and the cause for which he fought. He began his speech by saying he would not use the words "Lost Cause" in referring to the late Southern Confederacy. The cause was not lost, the principles for which the South battled are as much alive today as ever. The speaker said he was too young to be a soldier at the outbreak of the war between the States, and when he was asked recently to which command he belonged during the civil strife he replied "His Mother's." His representative, however, was there—his father, who served throughout the four years' conflict. Senator Vardaman proceeded in the most pathetic and impressive manner to describe the gathering of the storm clouds of 1861—fathers and mothers, giving goodbye kisses to sons, some of whom never returned to the family home. He said it was impossible to honor the private soldier who went forth to battle for his country. Such had overflowing cups to which it was impossible to add a drop, but monuments can be erected to their posterity.

The speaker continuing said it was unnecessary at this time to apologize for any acts of our fathers, and that the dead past should be allowed to bury itself. He admonished all present to be good citizens, observing that this great country should be governed by the white race. At this juncture the Senator said he would make no further reference to the issue between the white and black race as he "might get loose." (Much laughter.)

The speaker said upon reaching Alexandria yesterday he passed by the monument at the intersection of Prince and Washington streets and asked to whom it had been erected. He was told it was to the Confederate soldier. The Senator while acknowledging the appropriateness of the statue, said there should be one erected to the Confederate woman, as without her aid the Southern Confederacy would not have lasted eighteen months.

The Senator seemed to overflow with poetry, classic allusions, and considerable humor during the delivery of his speech, and he took his seat amid uproarious applause.

The Senator was followed by Hon. James T. Lloyd, of Missouri. This gentleman delivered a brief but pregnant address, in which he presented many facts connected with the war between the states. His description of conditions in Missouri during those days was especially interesting. Many Virginians had emigrated to that State years before the civil war, and when the call to arms was sounded some Missourians joined the Southern army and others the northern, while the State had senators in the Southern Congress and senators in the Congress of the United States. Brother fought against brother and father against son. He advocated fraternity between all sections of the country, and said a congressman recently suggested that a statue to General Lee should be on one side of the mansion at Arlington and one of Grant on the other.

In conclusion the speaker said the war had brought forth two great men who would brighten the pages of history—Robert E. Lee and Abraham Lincoln.

At the conclusion of Representative Lloyd's speech Senator Vardaman again arose. Mr. Lloyd has called attention to the picture of Jefferson Davis during his speech. Senator Vardaman, after paying a compliment to the President of the late Confederacy, referring to him as a man who had forfeited his all, been abused, imprisoned and made an object of ridicule, he proposed a toast to that statesman, cold water to be used. The company arose to a man and drank to Jefferson Davis.

Rev. J. W. Duffey, pastor of the M. E. Church South, was the next speaker. He was scheduled to give "Snap Shots of McNeill's Rangers." The hour was late when he began, and in a short address he recounted a number of interesting, thrilling, and amusing scenes in connection with his experience during the days of the Confederacy.

He responded to the toast "The Private Soldier," but waived his privilege in favor of Rev. Dr. Duffey.

H. Noel Garner, commander of M. D. Corse Camp, was the last speaker. He responded to the toast "Sons of Confederate Veterans." His speech was brief but well conceived and well delivered.

During the evening Miss Julia Benton Hopkins recited "Lee to the Rear" and "Home, Sweet Home," which were greatly enjoyed.

The company adjourned about 11 o'clock, enthused by their evening's experience.

TEN-CENT RATE ON BANK DEPOSITS

Weaver Bill Segregates This Property For Use of State Alone.

MANN PLAN ADOPTED.

Governor-Elect Supports Jordan Substitute Making it 25 Per Cent.—
Governor on His Dignity.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—By a vote of 8 to 6, the House finance committee last night rejected the Jordan substitute bill for tax on money in bank, supported by Governor Elect Henry C. Stuart, and recommended the Weaver bill, segregating this subject of taxation to the State alone, and fixing the state rate at 10 cents on $100, as recommended by Governor Mann. The contest over this form of taxation has become the subject of a bitter controversy before the General Assembly, and the fight will be renewed on the floor of the House.

For several hours yesterday bankers from all sections of the State presented to the committee the urgency of the situation, claiming that unless emergency steps were taken, millions of dollars would be withdrawn from Virginia banks before February 1—the annual taxing day.

While the banks have prepared themselves to meet the strain, they have done so by calling in loans, and to a large extent, putting a check on business. The decision to report the Weaver bill at 10 cents, instead of 2 cents, as introduced, was reached after a three-hour executive session in which every member took part in the debate. The vote was not announced, but was said to have been as follows:

For the Jordan substitute, favored by Mr. Stuart: Messrs. Jordan, Spessard, Stearnes, Pitts, Terrell and Gregory.

For the Weaver bill as amended: Messrs. Weaver, Brewer, Houston, Montague, Spatig, Owen, Grasty and Oliver.

Absent, Mr. Baker.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—Because of the dignity of precedent, Governor Mann yesterday morning declined to attend the hearing on the Weaver tax exemption bill before the House Committee on Finance.

Governor Mann, Governor-elect Stuart and State Auditor Moore were extended invitations to be present. Governor-elect Stuart and Auditor Moore accepted. Governor Mann said the dignity of the precedent and custom prevented him from participating in the conference before the committee unless the whole committee called and held the hearing in his office. Governor Mann made his announcement to a special committee which called upon him. He said, incidentally that his tax views differ from those of Mr. Stuart.

Just before the hearing was adjourned Governor Mann changed his mind. He appeared before the committee and said that he would be very glad to furnish any information in his possession and to co-operate with the committee in any other way possible.

He discussed tax conditions generally and advocated again the recommendations contained in his message. He did not go into a discussion of the merits and demerits of the Weaver bill.

Mr. Stuart recommended a more general plan of tax equalization. Mr. Moore favored an emergency act effective this year only, or, he said, in order not to disturb conditions, he thought the tax might be left as it is until general relief can be afforded, it being understood, of course, that this relief is to be afforded at once.

Before the argument began Delegate O. L. Stearns, of Roanoke, offered a substitute to the Weaver bill, providing segregation. The substitute, he said, would be followed by several companion measures.

In brief, Mr. Stuart's plan is to reduce the tax on bank deposits to cents on the $100. It is now 25 cents State tax plus the local rate. In Richmond the total is $1.75 on the $100. In making the reduction Mr. Stuart would abolish the local tax on

BURNING OF WHITTLE HALL.

Sunday Morning Fire at the Theological Seminary.

As stated in the Gazette yesterday Whittle Hall, the Parish Hall of the Episcopal Theological Seminary near this city, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning. The janitor had started the fire in the stove as usual for the Sunday School which was to assemble at half-past nine o'clock, and had remained in the building until he considered everything was safe, as he had so often done before. Shortly after he left a fire broke out in the well near the flue, and was discovered in its earliest stages by Mr. Persons, a student connected with the Sunday School, about five minutes before nine o'clock. He immediately gave the alarm and the students did all that was possible to save the building, but owing to the fact that nothing but a line of buckets and water was at once available, the fire attained such headway in the roof that it was soon seen that the building which was of wood, must be a total loss. All the furniture, including a piano, was saved. The High School boys led by Mr. Stuart, the proctor, and neighbors from the vicinity, especially Messrs. Donaldson, and John R. Howard came as soon as they heard of the fire and rendered efficient help. This is the first building that has ever been destroyed by fire at the Seminary in the whole history of the existence on "The Hill" since the year 1827. It was most fortunate that the fire occurred in an unoccupied building, for if it had taken place in Aspinwall or the other halls contiguous to it, nothing could have saved the main buildings from total destruction. The nearest building to Whittle Hall was the residence of Professor Green, but as the morning was calm, it was preserved from danger during the progress of the fire which lasted in its intensity for a little more than an hour when the building completely collapsed.

Whittle Hall was built by subscription in the year 1889, chiefly through the efforts of the Ladies' Societies, and the Rev. Robert Carter, of Orange, Va., who was then a student at the Seminary. All the Parochial Societies of the "Hill" together with the Sunday School, were held there for many years, but for some time past the Ladies' Societies have been meeting at the Professors' houses, the Sunday School alone using the Hall. The Sunday School will now meet in Prayer Hall, where it regularly met before Whittle Hall was built. Whittle Hall has been used occasionally of late years for students' entertainments for which it was well adapted.

The building was valued at about $2,000, and it was insured in common with the other buildings of the Seminary.

Virginia's fight to secure the return of Martha Washington's will has attracted the notice of the whole country, and the proceedings promises to be interesting. Senator Thornton and the district he represents are particularly concerned, since it was from the Fairfax county court house that the will was taken.

Senator Saunders thought that it was desirable that a paper as important historically as the Martha Washington will should be assured of a safe resting place. He was informed by Senator Thornton that the Fairfax county court house could adequately safeguard it in its fireproof vault.

The will was recorded in the Fairfax county court house on June 21, 1802, and remained a part of the archives of the county until it was stolen during the war. In spite of the efforts of historians and patriotic societies to locate the document, its whereabouts remained a matter of conjecture for half a century. Correspondence with J. Pierpont Morgan recently disclosed its presence in his collection of historical papers.

Under the Thornton act the Governor is directed to cause formal demand to be made on Mr. Morgan for the return of the will to the State of Virginia. In the event that the demand is not complied with in reasonable time, the bill provides, the Attorney-General is authorized and directed to institute suit for its recovery in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mr. Thornton has presented a bill in the State Senate for the relief of Whitestone and Rammel. It was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Planning to Become a Catholic.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 20.—Stung by criticism by a Catholic priest from his pulpit, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw declares she has already taken steps to enter the Catholic Church, and that her son, Russell, would be baptized in that faith.

The Rev. Alexander W. Chapoton had said: "A notorious woman is coming to a theater in Kansas City, and I hope no church members will go to see her, thereby giving their approval of her life."

Mrs. Thaw said she expects to be baptized upon her return to New York.

APPROVES ACT TO BRING BACK WILL

Committee Reports Thornton's Bill to Bring Suit

IS SURE OF PASSAGE.

Governor is Instructed to Demand the Return of the Instrument to the State of Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—The Senate committee for courts of justice voted unanimously yesterday to report Senator Thornton's bill authorizing the institution of proceedings in the name of the Commonwealth to enforce the return to this State of the will of Martha Washington. The document is now in the possession of J. Pierpont Morgan, of New York.

A discussion of the measure at the meeting, which was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, revealed a fixed purpose to secure the return of the historic document filed from the Fairfax county records during the war between the States. The committee inserted a section setting forth the importance of bringing it back to Virginia at the earliest possible moment, and declaring the act an emergency measure, effective from its passage.

The bill takes its place at the head of the Senate calendar, and will come up on its first reading today. It is assured of passage in the upper house and will probably get a unanimous vote. The same sentiment, it is stated, exists in the House of Delegates, where the measure will go for concurrence before the end of this week.

AT WASHINGTON THEATRES.

New Play at The Belasco—Mollie Williams at the Gayety.

"The Family Cupboard" at the Belasco theatre this week, makes its first metropolitan appearance night. It is the story of New York life. The Nelsons were a new-rich New York family, in which occurred (in books and plays, at least) familiar domestic tragedy of the money-getting father and the society-mad wife, whose mutual neglect led to disruption of their home and almost the ruin of their pampered son—with a complete reconciliation and wholesale adjustment in the end, quite in accordance with rule. It is a good commonplace play, entirely consistent in its commonplaceness. It does not illumine its incidents, or endow its characters with originality, nor does it tempt the fancy at any time with poetic suggestion. It simply pursues its plain, straightforward way through a sequence of staple situations which are arranged by a skillful dramatist into a sure-fire plot with an irreproachable moral lesson.

The solid story is made more so, yet at the same time becomes a better piece of dramatic writing by the introduction of Kitty May, the troublemaker, and her pal, Dick LeRoy, vaudeville song and dance artist, of whom both author and actors make strikingly well drawn and convincing portraits.

"The Queen of Bohemia."

Mollie Williams, queen of burlesque and her all-star company are the attraction at the Gayety this week. Two capacity houses greeted her appearance yesterday. Miss Williams, always a popular favorite with Washington audiences, has lost none of the charm that has made her name a drawing card.

The performance is a 2-act musical farce, with just enough plot to make it interesting. Miss Williams is the whole show, and the producer, recognizing that all burlesque lovers go to see "Mollie Williams," has given her the burden of the work. Miss Williams' imitations and characteristic way of singing all the popular songs have won her a number of well-merited encores. Even that now-torn song, "You Made Me Love You," proved a hit all because of the way she sang it.

Harry Sappell, Ted Burns, Cliff Worman, and E. A. Turner provide capable assistants for Miss Williams and contribute their full share to the success of the show. The chorus is by far the largest and best drilled that has been seen here this season. Ruth Maitland and Violet DeVaughn, both members of the chorus, were warmly applauded for their speciality and Don Piotti is about the classiest accordion player that has been seen in these parts for some time.

The show in its entirety will compare favorably with musical attractions seen at the higher priced theaters.

RECTOR RECEIVES CALL.

Rev. Thomas C. Darst Invited to Become the Associate to
Dr. Clark in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—By unanimous vote last night the vestry of St. James Episcopal Church invited Rev. Thomas C. Darst, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Newport News, to become associate rector of St. James and the hope was expressed that he would accept. Mr. Darst, who is a graduate of Roanoke College, and the Theological Seminary at Alexandria, was former rector of St. Mark's in this city. About five years ago he went to St. Paul's in Newport News, and has done such excellent work there that it may be difficult to persuade him to return to Richmond. As secretary of the committee on arrangements for the Episcopal General Convention, which met in this city in 1907, he rendered invaluable aid in making that event noteworthy, and was very highly commended by convention leaders. He is 38 years old.

Thief Leaps From Ferry.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—After smashing the window of the jewelry store of Francis B. Wilson, 405 Broadway Camden, and snatching diamonds valued at $3,000, a 19-year-old boy sought to escape pursuit by leaping from the ferryboat. He was fished out and in his possession were found thirteen diamond rings and a pair of earrings valued at $550. He said his name was James Harper, and his home Indianapolis.

MOTHERS KILL BABES.

Begging Travelers to Save Little Ones—Burros, Mules, Cats and Dogs Used For Food.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 20.—Thousands of men, women and children are dead or dying of starvation in the state of Sinaloa, Mexico.

Emaciated mothers are begging travelers to take their babies to keep them from starving, and falling, many are killing themselves and their babies in despair.

Returning from a trip through Sinaloa to bring back his wife and baby who had been there visiting relatives, Dr. Jerome Triolo, head of the constitutional hospital in Juarez, and a resident of El Paso, tells a story of horror and suffering, which rivals any of the stories of famine days in India.

"There is no food in the state of Sinaloa," said Dr. Triolo. "By that I mean there is none for the great mass of the people. In some of the towns there is still a little foodstuff, but it is very little and held at such exorbitant prices that none but the very rich can buy it."

"In Chiois, where my wife and child were, people are dropping in the streets of starvation daily, not one or two, but scores, and they are dying where they drop. Throughout the state conditions are even worse than in Chiois."

"Outside the towns there is no food whatever, and the people are subsisting on bark and roots of trees and shrubs. Mothers are going about the country with starving babies, asking those they meet to take the little ones and save them from starvation."

Death of Dr. Cooper.

Richmond, Jan. 20.—Rev. George Cooper, D. D., seventy-three years old, for twenty years pastor of the First Baptist Church, died last night at 12 o'clock at the home of his son, I. Homer Cooper, of 2701 Stuart Avenue. He had been in failing health since March.

Dr. Cooper gave up the pastorate of the First Baptist Church about nine years ago, and was succeeded by Rev. George W. McDaniel, D. D. Before coming to Richmond he had charges at Gloversville, N. Y., and Philadelphia. Until a year ago he held a small pastorate at Jenkintown, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

Besides his wife, he leaves two sons—J. Homer and George Cooper, Jr., and one daughter—Mrs. Alfred Sebastian.

Dr. Cooper was a native of Scotland.

Virginia May Get $591,520.

Washington, Jan. 20.—A supplemental report on the bill to appropriate $25,000,000 a year for Federal aid to road construction in the various states was filed in the House yesterday by Representative Shackelford, chairman of the House Roads Committee. A special rule making this bill in order as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, now before the House, probably will be acted upon tomorrow by the Rules Committee.

The bill proposes to divide the appropriation among the States in proportion to the rural delivery routes and post roads in each state. Tables setting forth the mileage of these routes in each state were included in the report filed. Virginia would get $591,520.

Considerable changes will have to be made in the plans for the remodeling of the Alexandria Light Infantry to bring it within the limit of expenditure which the members of the company and the city council have agreed to spend. Bids were opened last night by the building committee of the company, and were as follows: Julian D. Knight, $9,309.36; D. E. Bayless, $9,372.45; Joseph F. Rodgers, $9,770; Samuel D. Vaughan, $10,357.45; James W. Deavers, $10,576. The committee has not decided what action they will take upon the bids, but in all probability will suggest certain changes in the plans which will reduce the cost of the reconstruction.

The present plans provide for the addition of a ladies' room, a company room, a gymnasium and bath rooms with the remodeling of the facade of the building on South Royal street.

At the same time there is considerable opposition throughout the county to the proposition of incorporating Clarendon, Cherryle and Fort Myer Heights into one body as has been proposed. The meeting will be for the purpose of hearing opinions from the people on these questions.

John Arrington Takes Appeal from Justice Caton, in the Police Court

John Arrington and John Arnold were sentenced in jail for thirty days in connection with the theft of 40 gallons of dynamite oil, valued at $80, from a boat belonging to Victor Emerson. A portion of the oil was sold to Cecil K. Sherman and some was found on Arrington's boat. The latter claimed to have bought it from Arnold, who said that he had found five cans in an abandoned row boat which he had sold to Arrington. Arrington was unable to account for two cans which were found in his possession. He was represented by Corporation Attorney Samuel P. Fisher, who took an appeal from the decision of Police Justice Caton.

Seven Men Killed.
Convicts Shot to Death While Attempting to Escape.

McAlester, Okla., Jan. 20.—Seven men were shot to death and three persons were wounded yesterday, when three convicts attempted to escape from the State penitentiary, and were slain by guards. One of the men murdered by the convicts in their mad dash for liberty was John R. Thomas, of Muskogee, formerly United States district judge and once congressman from Illinois.

Despite the commotion caused by other convicts to join in the delivery, so rapidly did the three convicts shoot down those in their path that they reached the prison gate before the guards could return their fire. The desperados had taken the keys from the turnkey, whom they had wounded, and had sheltered themselves through the prison yard by holding Mary Foster, a telephone operator, in front of them. The only shot fired by guards in the yard at constipation, nervousness, indigestion, liver, upset stomach, dizziness, sick headache, malaria, jaundice, lack of appetite; absence of ambition and for sorrow and dimly skin. Their action will prove a happy revelation to you.

John Arrington Takes Appeal from Justice Caton, in the Police Court

John Arrington and John Arnold were sentenced in jail for thirty days in connection with the theft of 40 gallons of dynamite oil, valued at $80, from a boat belonging to Victor Emerson. A portion of the oil was sold to Cecil K. Sherman and some was found on Arrington's boat. The latter claimed to have bought it from Arnold, who said that he had found five cans in an abandoned row boat which he had sold to Arrington. Arrington was unable to account for two cans which were found in his possession. He was represented by Corporation Attorney Samuel P. Fisher, who took an appeal from the decision of Police Justice Caton.

Otto Hicks, an employee of the Alexandria Gas Works, was fined $10 in the Police Court today for stealing an overcoat from John Gilmartin, a fellow employee.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

FOR NEW PARTY.

Coalition of Temperance and Progressive Forces if Enabling Act is Lost.

Richmond, Jan. 20.—That a conference has already been held in this city between representatives of the "dry" and the "progressive" Democrats is the statement made by one who is in close touch with the situation.

That there is to be an alliance for offense and defense is the further declaration.

That the drys are to cut loose from the "organization" and to make common cause is the announced and avowed purpose of the coalition.

Having for some years hearkened to the pleas for regularity and for adjusting the differences in the party, the drys have at last come to the point wherein it is manifest that the organization is to throw them overboard for all time by refusing to permit what they have been asking for years—a popular vote on the liquor question.

The conference above referred to was held the latter part of last week. It was attended by persons who had been delegated to assemble and discuss amalgamation. The agreement was that the best interests of those participating dictated a new alliance.

In short while it is declared that the Anti-Saloon League has for years been striving to have the liquor question settled without resort to politics, without making it a party affair, the time has come when individual influential leaders believe action is demanded. The drys and the progressives are to force the fighting for the reason that the old parties have consigned the liquor question to limbo.

Men high in the councils of the progressives were in attendance—men whose names will be much in the public eye during the next four years and are cognizant with what is going on. It is expected that the appointments soon to be made by Governor Stuart will reflect the new alignment.

So far as the plans have been discussed, there is a tentative arrangement for a State convention in this city during the coming spring, when the progressives and the drys are to elect delegates and to proceed to formulate plans for the organization of forces in every precinct, ward, county, town and city in the state.

J. D. McAlister, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, said in a significant way in a sermon Sunday morning at Monument Methodist Church, that either the Legislature will give the people the right to express their views on the question of calling an election for Statewide prohibition or within sixty days we will be in the midst of a great campaign.

NORFOLK CONTEST CASE.

Judge Chichester Takes Case Under Advisement.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 20.—At the conclusion of a 10-hour argument before Judge R. H. L. Chichester by the attorneys in the Norfolk election contest attacking majorities returned in November for Clerk of the Courts James V. Trehy and City Treasurer B. Gray Tunstall, the Judge announced in the Corporation Courts at 10 o'clock Saturday night that he would take the case under advisement for a few days.

Outlining generally the features of the case, Judge Chichester said that he would address himself chiefly to three questions the sealing of the ballots, the assistance given voters in preparing their ballots, and the question of fraud outside the polls.

"The case is one of great importance," said the judge, "not only to the people of Norfolk but also to the people of Virginia, and there are several serious and grave questions which I desire to give the most careful and thorough consideration. I had hoped to decide the matter immediately upon the conclusion of the argument, but not having had opportunity to consider the evidence and law as I think is necessary, I shall take the case under advisement for a few days."

The contestants do not claim to have proven a sufficient number of individual illegal votes to alter the result of the election if they were all thrown out, but contend that they have shown enough evidence of fraud and irregularity, whether participated in by the judges or not, to require the fifth and sixth precincts to be thrown out.

Brown, nineteen years old, of 1838 Venable street, was mysteriously shot in the left arm last night at 7 o'clock as she was passing through Venable street, between Seventeenth and Buchanan. Her sleeve had been burned, and there was apparently a slight wound.

GENERAL LEE'S BIRTHDAY.

Anniversary Celebrated in Virginia and Throughout South.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—Throughout the South, and notably in Virginia yesterday, the one hundred and seventh anniversary of the birthday of Gen. Robert E. Lee was fittingly observed. In this state, and particularly in Richmond, the day was celebrated as a holiday by many persons. Practically all industrial activity ceased for a part of the day, and the banks, public and private schools and many business and manufacturing plants were closed. At all Confederate Veteran gatherings General Lee's farewell address to the Army of Northern Virginia was read.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 20.—The anniversary of General Lee's birthday was observed here yesterday by local veterans and Daughters of the Young Men's Christian Association. Dr. Joseph B. Dunn made an address on "Some Glimpses of General Lee" Crosses of Honor which were to have been presented failed to arrive and certificates were awarded to F. M. Browning, C. E. Gilliam, G. T. Lavender, and P. B. Hughes, veterans, and Henry Miller, son of a veteran. The schools observed the day with special exercises.

Harrisonburg, Va., Jan. 20.—Aided by a chorus of 100 Normal School girls, Harrisonburg's Daughters of the Confederacy and the Lee Literary Society of the Normal School observed General Lee's Birthday with exercises in Town Hall. An address on General Lee was made by former Commonwealth's Attorney George N. Conrad.

Winchester, Va., Jan. 20.—Robert E. Lee's birthday was observed last night by Turner Ashby Camp, Confederate Veterans. Major J. C. Hemphill, of Washington, spoke on the life of Lee. He was the guest at a reception given by the Fairfax Club.

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

A medicine for Throat and Lung Trouble which has been thoroughly tested for many years, and which has been instrumental in restoring complete health to a large number of sufferers, should be thoroughly investigated by everyone. While no undue claims are made for it, nor any guarantee that its use will restore health, Eckman's Alternative has been given the full credit in saving lives in many cases. Read this case:—Wilmington, Del. "I am a physician. In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, one of the leading practitioners of Wilmington, Del., said that it was lung trouble. I took eggs and milk in quantities, but I got very weak. Mr. C. A. Lindquist, of Lippincott & Co., Department Store, 300 to 314 Market street, Wilmington, Del., recommended to me Eckman's Alternative, that had done great good, and upon his suggestion I began taking it at once. This was about June, 1908. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I now have no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alternative saved my life." (Signed) JAS. SQUIRES. (Name abbreviated; more on request.) Eckman's Alternative has been proved by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Strabismus, and in rebuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons, or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

MEMORIES OF THE SOUTHERN CONFEDERACY.

Scenes last night in Confederate Veterans' Hall, where the banquet of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans was given, will form green spots in the souls of all present. The ranks of the veterans are becoming thinner and thinner as one by one of the followers of Robert E. Lee answer the last roll call. There were vacant chairs last night and comrades whose faces had been familiar at these reunions in by-gone years are resting under the shade of the trees in the eternal world. It has been the object of the veterans since they stacked their arms at Appomattox to transmit to their posterity the principles for which they fought, and as the veterans one by one pass over that river without a bridge it is a consolation for them to realize that their labors have not been in vain. A large majority of those present last night are of a new generation, who were present to honor those who have gone before.

Senator Vardaman in his thrilling address said "remove sentiment from this world and it will become a Sahara." The truth of this assertion is apparent to all who will stop and think.

While the descendants of those who wore the gray may be ready to fight for the Stars and Stripes, the Senator, like many others, is aware of the fact that the memories of the heroic Confederates, who placed their all upon the altar of their country, are living today in their progeny.

The Senator said many things worth remembering. Among other observations he called attention to the fact that government by the people is merely what the people make it. If the political machinery is hampered in any way it is a mistake to place the blame upon the representatives of the people, and if the church is not bringing forth the fruits of its mission, the odium should not be placed upon the minister. Let every man be a good citizen and a consistent church member and matters will quickly adjust themselves.

Scenes similar to those witnessed in Confederate Veterans' Hall were enacted throughout the southern country last night, while in cities in other sections of the country there were gatherings of ex-Confederates and others to pay respect to the memory of Robert E. Lee and incidentally to the Confederate soldiers and women of the South.

In 1861 there were less than thirty million souls under the flag of the United States. They now reach ninety millions. As some one has said Uncle Sam has grown into a huge giant. His head rests in perpetual snows in the frigid zone; his feet protrude into the tropics, while his arms stretch from the Atlantic to the Orient. The dove of peace is still with us, and the principles of fraternity expressed at these annual gatherings are bringing forth fruit abundantly.

SENATE AND ENABLING ACT.

Mr. McAlister Says Nobody Knows How That Body Will Vote on Measure.

Richmond, Jan. 20.—Rev. J. D. McAlister, secretary of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League, presented the claims of his organization to the congregation of Monument Methodist Church Sunday morning.

In referring to the attitude of the Legislature to the enabling act Mr. McAlister declared that the league was making no prophecies, that he did not know how the Senate stood, nor did he believe the Senate itself knew how its members stood.

He intimated strongly that adverse action by the Senate would instigate an even more determined campaign for prohibition.

He arraigned the State for licensing liquor and then making "debtors" prisoners of the jails by confining drunkards who were unable to pay their fines.

A collection was taken to aid the work.

A POPULAR VERDICT.

Based on Evidence of Alexandria People.

Grateful thousands tell it—Of weak backs made strong—Of weak kidneys made well—Urinary disorders corrected. Alexandria people add their testimony.

They praise Doan's Kidney Pills. Alexandria evidence is now complete.

Alexandria testimony is confirmed: Reports of early relief substantiated. Merit doubly proved by test of time.

Let an Alexandria citizen speak. Mrs. Mary Ticer, 300 North Alfred street, Alexandria, Va., says: "I have not the slightest hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement. I publicly recommended them some years ago, after they had been used in my family with good results. They made a cure of a bad case of kidney complaint and there has been no further trouble. We all think highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and recommend them whenever we have an opportunity."

HOW GOOD THAT MUSTEROLE Feels!

A-a-h! That's delicious relief for those sore muscles, those stiff joints, that lame back.

MUSTEROLE is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard, and other home simples.

It does the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster, minus the plaster and minus the blister!

You simply rub MUSTEROLE on the spot where the pain is—rub it on briskly—and the pain is gone.

No muss, no bother. Just comforting, soothing relief—just a gentle glow, then a delightful sense of coolness. And best of all, no blisters like the old-fashioned mustard plasters used to make.

There is nothing like MUSTEROLE for Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Tonsillitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Headache, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains and aches of the back or joints, Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chills, Frosted Feet and Colds of the Chest (it prevents Pneumonia).

Doctors and Nurses frankly recommend MUSTEROLE. It is used in large hospitals.

At your druggists, in 25c and 50c jars, and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Accept no substitute.

If your druggist cannot supply you, send 25c or 50c to the MUSTEROLE Co., Cleveland, O., and we will send you a jar postage prepaid.

Charles H. Kelly, Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have great faith in MUSTEROLE; indeed, I have prescribed it for several of my patients this week; it is a valuable remedy."

The Light to Study By

Children should never study under a poor light—it strains the eyes and the ill effects may be permanent.

The best lamp for study is the Rayo—its light is soft, clear and steady—you can use it for hours at a time without hurting your eyes in the least.

The Rayo lamp is strong, attractive and durable. Can be lighted without removing chimney or shade—easy to rewick.

The Rayo costs little, but you can't buy better at any price.

Your dealer keeps the Rayo—ask to see it.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The Rev. Joseph F. McGee, one of the best known priests in Washington, and rector of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Fourteenth street and Whitney avenue northwest, died early this morning, after an illness of nearly three months.

With only one dissenting vote, so far as could be ascertained, John Skelton Williams, of Virginia, was confirmed as comptroller of the currency by the Senate last night. After the executive session ended it was reported that Senator Bristow, of Kansas, was the only man who voted against confirmation. It was Mr. Bristow who alone voted against a favorable report upon Mr. Williams' confirmation by the committee on banking and currency last week. The almost unanimous ratification of the President's selection for the comptroller is naturally regarded as a complete vindication of Mr. Williams in the contest organized against him by unfriendly interests.

Celebrating the birthdays of Gens. Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, more than 2,000 Southerners gathered at the Mount Vernon Methodist Episcopal Church South, Washington, last night and listened to an eloquent address by Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas. Bronze crosses were distributed. The gathering was under the auspices of the Confederate organizations of the District of Columbia. Senator Sheppard reviewed the history of the Union and of the civil war. He said that today Generals Lee and Jackson should return they would not find the idea of secession in a single human heart, but the American people bound together in brotherhood.

The strike on the Delaware and Hudson Railway was settled last night. Company officials met the union's demands that they restore two discharged employees, Engineer James A. Lynch, and Conductor F. A. Slade to their former positions. All strikers will return to duty immediately.

After being trailed with bloodhounds to Grafton, W. Va., Frank Paulette, an Italian coal miner, of Pottsville, Pa., is in jail at Clarksburg, W. Va., accused of murdering his fellow miner, Frank Gliberti, whose body lies at a morgue. Last night at Pottsville, it is alleged, they quarreled over Jennie Wilford, a pretty American girl from Belmont, Pa., with whom both were in love and that Paulette shot Gliberti. Paulette has a family.

After telling her fortune with a new car's, Mrs. Caroline Olaschak, killed her 10-year-old daughter, Helen, and committed suicide by turning the gas on in their flat in New York yesterday. Before enacting the double tragedy, Mrs. Olaschak put a pet dog out of the flat. The animal was found whining in the hallway.

Three hundred refugees from Sakurajima Island, Japan, who had fled from the eruption of the volcano Sakurajima, yesterday were killed by a falling cliff. The cliff had been weakened by earthquake shocks which accompanied the eruption.

Caught under his engine which was overturned by a spreading rail at Davidson, N. C., Sunday night at 8:30, Fireman Avery H. Wilson of the Taylorville branch of the Southern Railway was crushed to death, while Engineer J. L. Curles was fatally scalded by escaping steam. Both were residents of Charlotte, N. C.

Frank Muehlfeld, alias "The Kid," went smilingly to his death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison yesterday, the second man to die in the chair for the murder of Patrick Burns in New York city two years ago. "Big Bill" Lingley, Muehlfeld's pal, was executed on May 5. Both Lingley and Muehlfeld last statements absolved Ralph Furcolo of any connection with the crime. Furcolo is serving a twenty-year sentence. Burns was robbed and shot down in his saloon on February 11, 1912.

The Paris correspondent of the London Daily Mail wires: "Our latest models are more décolleté than any fashions for twenty years past," says the manager of a famous fashion house. Muffs for the legs are a novel fashion accompanying the unusually long spell of bitterly cold weather still prevailing in Paris. This leg muf, which is designed to remedy this, is a silk legging lined with fur which can be drawn on over a light shoe and comes above the knee. It is taken off at the same time as the opera cloak and left in the cloak room."

Famous Apperson Jack Rabbit Cars

Twenty-first Anniversary

Since 1893, Building the Famous Apperson Jack Rabbit Cars

The Wizard of the Hills

With their own hands, 21 years ago, Elmer and Edgar Apperson built America's first automobile, and in all that time no Apperson car has ever worn out; nor have they ever built a car that developed chronic trouble. They are the only makers who hold such a record. Judge the wonderful car that must come from that wealth of experience, for it is greater than that of any other maker.

And remember this: The Apperson Jack Rabbit is manufactured from hub to hub in Apperson factories. It is not an assembled car. Think what this means. Absolute mechanical perfection, sureness in production, prompt deliveries, and no divided responsibility.

AUTO EXHIBIT OPENS.

President Launches Big Show on Week's Course of Triumph.

In a setting of extraordinary brilliancy, under every promise of a successful exhibition, the annual automobile show of the Washington Automobile Dealers' Association at Convention Hall, Fifth and L streets north-west, was thrown open to the public at 8 o'clock last night with fitting elvish and social honors.

For the second time in the history of the automobile trade in Washington a President of the United States formally opened the exhibition. Promptly at 8 o'clock the tinkle of a silver bell over the main entrance of the huge auditorium and the blinding flash of thousands of electric lights launched the show on its week's course of triumph.

Even the dealers who have given the greater part of their time for the past two months planning and carrying into execution their plans for the opening of the show were awed by the brilliance of the scene. They had underestimated the magnitude and elaborate scale of their plans. The color scheme of gold and white, blending with the glare of countless incandescent bulbs, transformed the usual barnlike bareness of the hall into a veritable fairy palace. It seemed as if the transformation was the work of fairies, and the thousands of motor enthusiasts who attended the opening of the exhibition indicated their approval by applause which completely drowned the strains of the opening overture by the Marine Band.

At short intervals along the sides of the exhibits which extended the entire length of the hall were a number of ornamental lampposts with side arms, from which hung in clusters hundreds of electric bulbs. South-east and hundreds of palms completed the decorative scheme.

Twenty-three concerns manufacturing pleasure and commercial cars have spaces at the show, and while there is a heavy preponderance of gasoline cars, electrical vehicles come in for their proportionate representation.

MANN NOT IN RACE.

Commonwealth's Attorney of Petersburg, Declines to Oppose Watson.
Petersburg, Va., Jan. 20.—Commonwealth's Attorney R. H. Mann will not be a candidate for the congressional nomination in the Fourth district this year. He had been urged by many friends to become a candidate.

Mr. Mann's engagements are such that he could not, for one reason, afford to neglect them to enter upon a long campaign.

It has been announced that Robert Turnbull, who was succeeded by Judge Walter A. Watson, would not be a candidate for congress this year. Judge Watson will probably have no opposition.

CHARGE AGAINST MINISTER.

Amazing Story of Dual Life Revealed in Confession.

Atlanta, Jan. 20.—An amazing story of the double life of Rev. J. W. Foster, 48, a Baptist minister, has been revealed by the minister, who told how he divided his time between his household, consisting of a wife and seven children, and posing as J. W. Deane, husband of Mrs. Maude Deane in another part of the city.

Rev. Mr. Foster and Mrs. Deane, who is 22 years old, were arrested and released on bonds of $600 each. Foster has been engaged in the real estate business since coming to Atlanta two years ago, although he preached occasionally. Mrs. Deane told the police that she was separated from her husband.

"I shall stay by him forever," she said, speaking of Foster. "If they send him to jail I want to be imprisoned too. If he must suffer for our wrongdoing I want to suffer with him."

"I don't care what the cost may be, I am prepared to stand by him to the end. If they should never let him out I should be willing to stay in a cell all my life."

That Foster maintained his two separate identities for months without any trouble at all is the story told by the police.

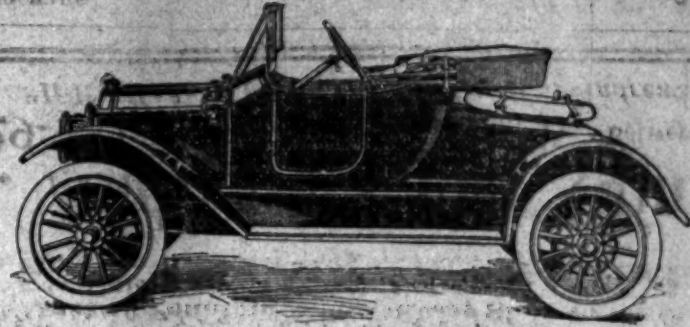

The Rev. J. W. Foster was the name by which he was known at 586 Gordon street West End, where he lived part of the time with his wife and seven children, the two eldest of whom are married.

The ex-minister made a complete confession, according to the police. He placed all the blame for his plight on his wife.

"If she had not founded me and nagged me and overwhelmed me with suspicious I never would have left the ministry. She unwarrantably accused me of paying attention to the wives of members of our church in Waco, Tex., when I had a passionate before coming to Atlanta two years ago."
